

Digital Strata Releases Powerful New Tool for Discovery and Litigation Hold Management

Discovery Agent Drives Process From First Litigation Hold to Final Notification.

SCOTTS VALLEY, Calif., Feb. 4 /PRNewswire/ -- Digital Strata, a premier software developer that creates applications specifically for legal processes within companies of all sizes, is proud to announce the launch and general availability of their latest product: Discovery Agent(TM).

"Discovery Agent is the first application to really address the needs of the entire marketplace," Dan Fischler, company founder and CEO said. "Clients have told us that Discovery Agent is critical for their discovery processes."

It is the first application designed, from the ground up, to manage everything involved with discovery and litigation holds. With the volume of information typical in discovery -- which can run to millions of pages of documentation -- the market was in desperate need of an efficient and easy-to-use system for management of the entire process, from beginning to end.

Discovery Agent is the first software that has been developed specifically to address the needs of in-house legal teams, external law firms, and third party e-discovery vendors. Discovery Agent is the first set of tools available that streamline the entire discovery process, making it faster, more coherent, and more accurate.

By using Discovery Agent, legal teams will be more assured about the facts they are presenting. They will know where the facts came from and have the entire discovery process documented, from the very first litigation hold to the final release notifications.

Discovery Agent is already in use by some of the premier technology companies, including networking and telecommunication companies. "Once our customers start using Discovery Agent they quickly find that it makes the entire process so much easier to manage and for everyone to understand, that they can't imagine how they would initiate discovery without it," Fischler said.

Discovery Agent is available via two models: as a software license, and as a hosted, web-based Software as a Service (SaaS). In the SaaS model there is absolutely no integration issues with existing legal infrastructure, and the entire legal staff has access to all of the required data at any time, from anywhere.
